Important Message from UnitedHealthcare on Coronavirus (COVID-19)

Your health and wellbeing is our number one priority. That's why we want to make sure you stay informed about Coronavirus (COVID-19). We're working with and following the latest information from the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC). We're also in touch with state and local public health departments. For the most up-to-date information and resources about prevention, coverage, care and support please visit UHCCP.com.

In response to COVID-19, UnitedHealthcare is making telehealth available at no cost to you. Telehealth visits allow you to talk with a local health care provider for both urgent and non-urgent needs using your mobile device or computer. Call your Primary Care Provider (PCP) to see if they offer visits online or by phone. If you don't have a doctor you see regularly, visit myuhc.com/CommunityPlan to find a network provider that may be able to offer a telehealth visit.

The articles found in the Spring HealthTalk newsletter were written and printed prior to the COVID-19 outbreak. These short, interesting articles are aimed to help keep you and your family healthy all year long. To ensure your safety and those around you we suggest you schedule your annual wellness visit in the fall or winter.

How can I protect myself from COVID-19?

The best way to prevent illness is to avoid being exposed to this virus. As with any potential illness, like the flu, it is important to follow good prevention practices, including:

- Hand washing with soap and water for 20 seconds or use of alcohol-based hand sanitizer with at least 60% alcohol if soap and water are not available.
- Do not touch your eyes, nose and mouth with unwashed hands.
- Try to stay away from people who might be sick.
- Do not share cups or eating utensils with people who are sick.
- Clean and disinfect often touched surfaces.
- Cover your nose and mouth with a tissue when you cough or sneeze, and then throw the tissue in the trash.
- While a flu shot does not stop COVID-19, it's still good to protect yourself against the flu. Contact your primary care provider and schedule your flu shot.

Five steps to wash your hands the right way

Handwashing is one of the best ways to protect yourself and your family from getting sick. During the COVID-19 pandemic, keeping hands clean is especially important to help prevent the virus from spreading.

Washing your hands is easy, and it's one of the most effective ways to prevent the spread of germs. Clean hands can stop germs from spreading from one person to another and throughout an entire community—from your home and workplace to childcare facilities and hospitals.

Follow these five steps every time

1. Wet your hands with clean, running water (warm or cold), turn off the tap, and apply soap.
2. Lather your hands by rubbing them together with the soap. Lather the backs of your hands, between your fingers, and under your nails.
3. Scrub your hands for at least 20 seconds. Need a timer? Hum the “Happy Birthday” song from beginning to end twice.
4. Rinse your hands well under clean, running water.
5. Dry your hands using a clean towel or air dry them.

Learn more about regular handwashing at cdc.gov/handwashing.

Going home.

Have you been in the hospital or emergency room (ER)? If so, it is important to receive follow-up instructions before you go home. Make sure you understand what is being asked of you. Ask questions if you do not. You can have someone you trust listen to the instructions so they also understand what you are supposed to do.

Make an appointment with your doctor as soon as you get home from the hospital. Bring your follow-up instructions and medications with you and share them with your doctor. Proper follow-up may prevent another visit to the hospital or ER.

Your partner in health.

How to choose the right PCP.

Your primary care provider (PCP) provides or coordinates your health care. You should see your PCP for well visits, immunizations and important screenings. Your PCP can help you lead a healthier lifestyle by providing tools to help you lose weight or quit smoking.

You want to feel comfortable talking with your PCP. You need a PCP with an office location and hours that work for you. You may want a PCP who speaks your language or understands your culture. You might prefer a male or a female PCP.

Teens have different health care needs than children. It may be time for your teen to switch to a doctor who treats adults. Your daughter may need a woman's health provider such as an OB/GYN.

If your PCP isn't right for you, you can switch at any time. You can learn more about plan providers online or by phone. Information available includes:

- Address and phone number.
- Qualifications.
- Specialty.
- Board certification.
- Languages they speak.
- Medical school or residency (by phone only).

The right care.

How we decide which services are covered.

UnitedHealthcare Community Plan does utilization management (UM). All managed care health plans do. It's how we make sure our members are getting the right care at the right time and in the right place.

A doctor reviews requests when care may not meet guidelines. Decisions are based on care and service as well as your benefits. We do not reward doctors or staff for denying services. We do not pay anyone for providing less care.

Members and doctors have the right to appeal denials. The denial letter will tell you how to appeal.

Questions? You can talk to our staff. They are available 8 hours a day during normal business hours. If you need to leave a message, someone will call you back. TDD/TTY services and language assistance are available if you need them. Just call 1-800-414-9025, TTY/PA Relay 711, toll-free.

We care for you.

Voluntary programs to help manage your health.

- Health education and reminders.
- Maternity support and education.
- Support for substance use disorders.
- Programs to help you with complex health needs (care managers work with your doctor and other outside agencies).

These programs are voluntary. They are offered at no cost to you. You can choose to stop any program at any time.

Mental illness and abuse.

When someone is being abused, they can feel helpless, nervous or very sad. Even after the abuse stops it can take a long time to feel better. Memories of being abused can make it hard to feel good again. Sometimes, being abused can cause a mental illness. A mental illness is a disorder that affects mood, thinking and behavior.

Some examples are:

- Depression.
- Post-Traumatic Stress Disorder (PTSD).
- Anxiety.
- Eating disorders.

Abuse can also make a mental illness worse. People who are abusive can do things that make it hard to manage a mental illness.

Things like:

- Hiding or stealing medication.
- Cancelling doctor appointments.
- Denying the mental illness exists.
- Blaming abuse on the mental illness.

If you have a mental illness and someone does these things it is not okay. No one should make you feel bad about your mental illness or keep you from getting help. Mental illness is a common issue for many people. Most forms of mental illness are able to be treated. A doctor can help find medication that will help. It can also help to talk to a counselor who understands abuse and mental illness. Talking about the feelings and memories about abuse can make it easier to manage a mental illness.

Take charge.

Prepare to see your provider.

Preparing for your provider's visit can help you get the most out of it. So can making sure your provider knows about all the care you receive. Here's how you can take charge of your health care:

- Think about what you want to get out of the visit before you go. Try to focus on the top 3 things you need help with.
- Tell your provider about any drugs or vitamins you take on a regular basis. Bring a written list. Or bring the medicine itself with you.
- Tell your provider about other providers you may be seeing. Include behavioral health providers. Mention any medications or treatment they have prescribed for you. Also bring copies of results of any tests you have had.

Talking to your doctor about your relationship.

It can help you stay safe.

Going to the doctor regularly is a good way to stay healthy. Doctors ask their patients questions that help identify problems. When problems are identified, doctors can help their patients get the things they need to start feeling better. Sometimes, doctors ask their patients questions about their relationships. They may ask questions like:

- Do you feel safe at home with your partner?
- Does your partner ever hit you or try to injure you?
- Does your partner try to control you physically, mentally or financially?
- Does your partner ever threaten you, or make you do things you don't want to do?

Answering questions like these can make you feel nervous or embarrassed. If you are in a safe relationship, these questions may not seem important. For patients who are not in safe relationships, it can be helpful when the doctor asks these questions. Talking about abuse can be hard or scary. It can also be a good way to start feeling better. Sometimes, relationships that are unhealthy can cause other problems too, such as:

- Depression.
- Anxiety.
- Post-Traumatic Stress Disorder.
- Traumatic brain injury.
- High blood pressure.
- Chronic pain.

When doctors ask about relationships, they can help with any of the problems the patient might have. They can also help connect you to people at the local domestic violence program for support.

You have resources. If you are experiencing abuse, you can always call your local domestic violence program on your own, or use these resources: Pennsylvania Coalition Against Domestic Violence, 717-545-6400, TTY/PA Relay 711 (8:30am — 4:30 p.m.), pcadv.org/find-help, or National Domestic Violence Hotline, 1-800-799-SAFE (1-800-787-3224), TTY/PA Relay 711, thehotline.org.

Top quality.

Our quality improvement results.

UnitedHealthcare Community Plan has a Quality Improvement program. It works to give members better care and services.

Each year we report how well we are doing. Last year, one of our goals was for more of our adult members who have diabetes to get their HbA1c blood tests and retinal eye scans. We sent members information and reminders about how important it is to see their doctor regularly to help manage their diabetes. We found that overall in 2019 more members did have their HbA1c blood tests and eye exams.

Last year, another goal was to increase the number of children who received yearly checkups. We want to improve even more this year and have more children get lead screenings, vaccinations and yearly checkups. We also want to improve the percentage of members who have cervical cancer and breast cancer screenings in the coming year. We will be calling members with reminders.

We also survey our members each year. We want to see how well we are meeting their needs. Our 2019 surveys showed mostly higher scores in how members rated their doctors. In the coming year, we will continue to work on improving how members rate their doctors and their overall health care. We also want to make sure members get the care they need when they need it. We gave our doctors tip sheets on what members like so they can better serve them.
